How can I calculate the distance of two points using Python. The first point is A(x, y) and the second point is B(x, y). I already have the following formula for calculating the distance (from Wikipedia): $d(x,y) = |x-y|$ How can I do this for the example given? My actual goal is to calculate the distances between the two vertices of the convex hull (A, B, C and D) and the centroid (E). A: I took a look at the Cython code you linked to and found the following to calculate the distance of a point (x,y) from the centroid (z):

Calculate the distance of a point from the centroid
of a triangle. # Parameters: # z - Centroid of triangle #
x,y - Point in triangle # u,v - Coordinates of point # inside triangle # inside_area - True if the point inside the triangle # and inside the triangle area # diag_area - Is the point a diagonal point of the triangle # (point inside the triangle, but outside # the triangle area) #
