It's not as user-friendly as iOS Pay, but if you're looking for a solution that will set up your device with a few clicks and without having to download an app, then OK is your answer. And with 3D Secure integration, the list of countries you can use it in is extensive. The OK app is more or less set up like iOS Pay and Android Pay. It lets you pay for in-store purchases at over 2 million retailers in more than 150 countries. You just point your phone at the terminal and push the OK button to pay. The only downside is that you have to subscribe to a MasterCard or VISA card before you start using it. So, if you don't want to bother with subscriptions and you just want to use it with any Visa card, here's how to set it up: Download the OK app from the Google Play Store. Install it on your Android device. Make sure you have a MasterCard, VISA, or Maestro card on file in the app. Note: The app will also require access to your MasterCard or VISA card. If you have access to a virtual card, then you don't need to do anything further. The app will use the location of your card in the app for setting up and online purchases. You can check what payment methods are supported on your device here. If you don't have a virtual card but have a regular MasterCard or VISA card on file, then you'll need to activate it from the app: From the app, tap the link that says "Add card."
